“ Grandma, you were my rock; my light at the end of the tunnel ; my role model; the person I turned to for advicemy everything! I will always remember you laugh and your smile and never understand why you were taken from me so unexpectedly. Please watch over your great grand babies and remind my Daddy how great his kids turned out. Until I see you both again....xoxo

“ You were the toughest, strongest person I have ever known, so I guess I thought you'd be here forever. Words can't describe how much you touched my life. I met you when I was so young and you took me in and treated me like your own daughter. You were like a mother to me. Someone I loved, trusted and looked up to.

We have all been through so much but no matter how everyone treated me you were always so good to me. I can't thank you enough for all you've done for me and the kids. There is no one I trust more with my kids than you. Your love for them was always overflowing. I know you knew how much you meant to me, even though I didn't say it often.

I'll never forget your last visit with us when you came out to take care of me after my accident. We had such a great time visiting with family and friends and we got to enjoy your home cooked meals. The kids and I always begged you to come and live with us. I'll never forget all the crazy things you would say and do or all the crazy visits with Jim and Evelyn and Jim and Jeanette. The awesome summers in the backyard at the Juanita house with your sweet sun tea and all your good cooking. I have nothing but good memories of you. You are truly the best mother in law this world has. Some people used to say how much you and I were alike but if I could be just half the mother and grandmother you are I'd be truly blessed...

Im so sad and so sorry your gone but Im Thankful you are now with Shane. Let him know how much his kids miss him and how beautiful our grandbabies are. Protect them for me.....

Forever in my heart
I will always love you....
Love Leah

“ There are so many memories....
So many sweet, funny, loving, crazy Mom memories of Alice. You were my other Mom, especially when mine was not there. Your home you made my home when I needed you! You accepted my good, bad, and crazy self even when you worried about me being your daughter's best friend for so many years when we were little because I might influence her. I remember when we were little you told me I wasn't allowed over anymore, and that lasted like a day. You loved me, cared about my life, cared about my well being, always made time to listen and sit with me. Everyone knew where they stood with Alice. You were always crystal clear about your feelings and your undying devotion to your precious family! You are and always will be admired for your beautiful strengths and tenacity! I missed you when you moved, I miss your smile, your raw humor, your presence! I will always miss and love you. Thank~you for being a wonderful beautiful loving part of my life. Thank~you for all the love you always graced my life with!

“ Mom, I love you so much,. You are my best friend. We are inseparable. I cannot imagine being with out you. You are the best mom in the whole world no one can compare to you. What will i do without you. The boys love you so much. You are not just there grandma you are there second mom. We have been through everything together. You have always said you would always be around. You better be watching over us because you cant leave us.. You are everything to us. And i need you to give me the strength you always have had. I love you....

“ The first time I meet Alice was through a Skype call. She was busy taking care of John, Tyler and Nickolas. I could see what a caring grandmother she was right away. How lucky I thought that she is so close to her grandkids. I also found that she talked to Ashley and Ariel almost daily as well as her grandchildren Michael and Shaneah. What I came to find out as she and I talked more was that she loved her grands and children more than just about any woman I have ever met. Besides how she loved, she laughed while she loved and I knew she was a women who had grasped what family is truly about. I thought I will learn something from her. Now I am sure that I have. The people she leaves behind will miss her terribly and there will be nothing that takes her place. I am only happy I had a chance to know her. The shopping we did and eating out at Olive garden and a lot of good memories for me. And don't forget she told me step by step how to cook some of Bill's favorite food. She had patience too. Everyone will miss her soooooooooo much. It does not seem it was time for her to go.
