“ How do I say what I feel. It has been hard watching your trip with this cancer. You were a true fighter. Every time I thought this is it you fought harder. The last message was a picture of you and said bad day. I knew then that it was almost the end. The message I got saved was a true blessing for me. I will truly miss you and all the things you did to show how much you loved your boys. Fly high and know I love you. always Aunt Nan
