“ Grandma- This is for you! remember all the love you always had for me! regret not returning it enough. I remember all meals you made special for me, because I didn't like onions or kidney beans. I remember the margarine wrapper I gave you, That you kept long after I'd grown. I remember all the times you had Teresa get me Lucky Charms, cause no other brand would do. I remember the cloths you bought me, because what I showed up in was rags. Instead of turning me away, you always took me in and would have kept me if you could've. I remember how special you always made me feel, just like you knew that I needed it. You were the only one who treated me that way. I will always be thankful to you Grandma, I just wish I'd have been half as good to you as you were to me. We always think we have more time, to do the things we want. I'll never do that again Grandma, I promise. I'll never take life for granted again. Because not being a part of your life in these last few years is now something I can never get back. You told me this would happen, you said, "families grow apart Tracy. I didn't believe you at the time. I know I've told you before how much you meant to me, but I wish I would have said it again, cause now my chance is gone.
